How do we say “Thank you” to our Board Presidents? A plaque, a t-shirt, maybe a glass statuette of our Samaritan House. It’s never enough, because anyone who takes on the very difficult job of leading a group of spirited volunteers to oversee a highly complex organization, such as ours, is in for a very demanding time!

Jay Strauss found the right balance. He told me that he would respectfully let our staff do what we do so well every day without interfering. And he lived up to that promise, while at the same time always “being there” for all of us – Board, staff, volunteers, clients. He never took his eye off the ball nor off the prize; yet he always found a way to engage others in bringing their own vision and their best efforts to the task. He steadily led by showing that he cared deeply about our mission as well as all of our people.

Jay is a “stand up guy” in every way. The best way we can thank him is to stand up and applaud for all he gave. Thank you, Jay!

For the past two years I enjoyed the unique privilege of serving as the President of Samaritan House’s Board of Directors. During those two years, Samaritan House was able to significantly increase and broaden programs to better serve the individuals and families in San Mateo County who need our support and services. For 40+ years I have been exposed to the greatness of Samaritan House, first as a teenager thanks to my father who spent many years as a volunteer in the kitchen. I commend our staff and the generous supporters in San Mateo County who have risen mightily to serve the needs of those less fortunate in our community. You have made a difference in the lives of many people and are continuing to do so.

Thank you!

Finding Help, Care and Love

Sam is many things. A father of seven, a grandfather of 22, a retired member of the US Army who served his country overseas for nearly a decade, and a loving husband who lost his wife this past July. From February to June of this year, Sam was also homeless.

About two years ago, Sam’s wife, Ana, fell ill. Devoted to helping her receive the best care, Sam regularly drove Ana between Sacramento, where they were living with their daughter, and Mills-Peninsula Hospital, for medical appointments. This past March, however, Ana’s health took a turn for the worse and she was hospitalized.

During the month and a half that Ana was in the hospital, Sam’s daughter and her family were displaced because the rented home they lived in required repairs. So, Sam spent night after night sleeping by Ana’s side in the hospital, in part because he didn’t want to leave her and also because he had nowhere else to go. Then, someone told Sam about Samaritan House and he called us.

Case managers met Sam at the hospital to explain what services were available to him and his wife. In collaboration with partner agencies, we found an interim place for Sam and Ana to stay, while they awaited permanent placement through the Veterans Affairs Supportive Housing program. One short month later, they got the keys to their very own one-bedroom apartment in San Mateo. Sadly, Ana passed away in July, just seven weeks after the couple moved into their new home.

Although 2016 has not been easy for Sam, his spirits are still high and he is thankful to have a home. Samaritan House continues to provide him with fresh groceries every month and we recently helped him pay for repairs to his car, so that he can see his family and get to his medical appointments safely.

Sam loves spending time at church and with his bible study group. As part of his church community, he visits the sick and elderly in their homes and care facilities and it gives him purpose. He says, “It eases my pain, comforts me and gives me peace in my heart.” He also enjoys spending time with his family members that are close by. He’s grateful to Samaritan House for helping him get back on his feet and wants the world to know, “there is help, care and love there.”

The #1 reason a client walks through our doors for the first time is to request rental assistance.
Super Man

“This is a big deal for me and, when I’m finished, I know you’ll understand.” Larry sits at a table at Samaritan House headquarters, wearing modern glasses, a stylish, pressed shirt and sipping a cup of tea. He is college educated, worked internationally during his career as a mechanical engineer, and owned a home in Burlingame.

In the past six years, Larry has survived the loss of his father as well as a car accident that left him with head and spinal trauma. He also was hit by a car as a pedestrian and was left with two broken legs, a broken shoulder, and a broken elbow. He is the epitome of resilience, especially considering that, during much of that time, Larry was homeless.

When Larry arrived at Samaritan House’s Safe Harbor Shelter following his first accident, he was unable to move much. He speaks about lying in his bed at the shelter, feeling hopeless and alone and so far from where he’d been. He says, “Many times in my life, I was on the handle end of the spoon, helping to feed others. All of a sudden, I was on the receiving end.”

Once Larry had recovered enough to get up and moving again, the other residents started calling him “Superman” because he was the first one at the bus stop each morning, trying to get back on his feet financially and take care of his health.

Unfortunately, Larry’s health issues continued. Years earlier, he was told that, like his father and brother before him, he needed open heart surgery to repair a birth defect. After he healed from the second accident, he knew it was time to have the surgery. His church raised enough money to fly his mother out, so that she could be with him at Mills-Peninsula Hospital where his surgery was performed by one of the best surgeons in the world. His Safe Harbor case manager coordinated with a long-term care facility to ensure Larry would have a place to convalesce during his recovery.

While recovering, Larry kept his mind active by reflecting back on his time working in Asia. Inspired by the incredible coffees he’d tasted there, he began designing apparatuses for commercial application. Larry says, “I never gave up on wanting to create and get back to an entrepreneurial capacity.” He scrimped and saved for parts and, eventually, made his first batch. It was a big hit.

Today, Larry tests his coffee on audiences all over the Bay Area, tweaking his process as he goes.

Next, Larry is focused on writing a formal business plan and securing investors. Fortunately, he has the stability to do just that. Asked about his current housing situation, Larry says “I just received permanent housing in San Francisco and, in fact, have the keys in my pocket right now.”

He goes on to say, “I wouldn’t be here without Samaritan House…I’m not special. I’m not different…This is life and it can happen to anyone. That’s why it’s so important to have people and organizations like Samaritan House.”
The First Food Pharmacies in California!

Food is medicine. Eating the correct types of food is equally important as taking the correct medicine, especially for many Samaritan House clients with Type 2 diabetes. This is why Samaritan House has teamed up with our longtime partner, Second Harvest Food Bank, on an exciting new Food Pharmacy Program.

In January 2016, the first Food Pharmacy opened at the Samaritan House Free Healthcare Clinic in Redwood City. This pilot program was generously underwritten by Sequoia Healthcare District and has already proven very successful. Building on that success, Samaritan House once again teamed up with Second Harvest food bank to open a second pharmacy at our San Mateo Free Healthcare Clinic.

At both Pharmacies, Second Harvest Food Bank provides the food and Samaritan House provides the volunteer physicians who write the prescriptions for low-income, uninsured patients with diabetes. Patients can then fill their prescriptions weekly, by picking up the healthy food for their whole family at the clinics, just steps from where they receive their medical care.

The Hunger in America 2014 study showed that people living in poverty are 33.3% more likely to have diabetes, three times the national average. This is because many low-income patients with diabetes don’t have access to nutritious foods, including fresh produce. It’s often too expensive and out of reach, while high-sugar, high-fat foods are cheaper and easier to get.

This innovative new program is expected to prescribe healthy and free food to more than 300 patients in its first year of operation.
Health Partner Profile

Lee Michelson, CEO, Sequoia Healthcare District
Mary Dunbar, Samaritan House

Excerpted from the full interview available on our website homepage: www.samaritanhousesanmateo.org

Redwood City Free Clinic Food Pharmacy

Lee: I really like the diabetes program, the prevention program that we’re doing with Samaritan House. To me, it’s a very special opportunity…the Food Pharmacy. It’s very unique, it’s very innovative, and I’m glad we were able to move in that direction this past year.

Mary: Our partnership is actually going to serve as a model for others in the Bay Area. We’ve even had inquiries from other organizations interested in the food pharmacy concept.

Lee: Fresh water and healthy food is good medicine, and what people put into their system really determines how healthy people are. For medical providers, it’s got to be very frustrating dealing with patients who have diabetes or other conditions, and knowing that their diet is one of the problems. Even when the patient knows that a healthy diet would be beneficial, they have a hard time attaining a healthy diet because there’s limited availability of fresh fruits and vegetables in their communities. The fact that you can do something about it right in the doctor’s office, that’s special. Patients don’t have to go anywhere else to get what they need.

The doctor doesn’t have to worry about whether they get the food or not because they’re handing it to them. They can track whether they’re actually eating the food and it’s making a difference, so it’s a great concept. It would be great if everybody did it.

Mary: I believe there’s an opportunity for us to further leverage this partnership, right?

Lee: Especially with such a strong, progressive partnership… Second Harvest, our food bank here, is one of the best. It does make a difference. They’ve come a long way, and we’ve got a great partnership among the three of us.

With nearly 500 people in attendance, Samaritan House’s sold-out Main Event fundraiser was a night to remember. The Crowne Plaza’s ballroom was turned into a bedazzled Emerald City where Samaritan House supporters celebrated the remarkable achievements of their robust Housing Assistance Program.

Guests made their way down the Yellow Brick Road for a cocktail hour featuring sparkling silent auction displays, raffles, and much more. The premium ticket holders were invited to “Glinda’s Bubble Lounge,” where they took pictures with four characters from the Wizard of Oz. Emmy award winning journalist, Heather Holmes, KTVU, emceed the action-packed Night in Oz. Festivities included an elegant dinner, an award ceremony, a live auction including a fund-a-need paddle raise for the Housing Assistance Program and plenty of great music.

All proceeds from the event benefit Samaritan House’s Housing Assistance Program, including, Safe Harbor Shelter. In addition to 32,695 nights of safe, warm sleep, annually, the Housing Program also provides more than $887,000 in direct financial assistance to keep people in homes and off the streets.

Create a Brighter Future for Our Neighbors in Need by Joining the Legacy Society Today!

What do you want your legacy to be? Join other like-minded people who wish to build a brighter future filled with hope for thousands of homeless and low-income San Mateo County families and individuals.

Those who designate a gift to Samaritan House through a will, trust, or other planned gift or by making an outright gift now, can have a lasting impact for generations to come. To join the Legacy Society all you need to do is tell us that your gift is in place. Contact Mary Dunbar at 650.523.0825 or send an email to mary@samaritansonmateo.org.

We respect your right to privacy and will keep your intention confidential if you wish.
