For over 45 years, Samaritan House has connected the working poor to the resources they need to remain a healthy, stable, and active part of our community. As the leading anti-poverty organization in San Mateo County, we deliver the full breadth of essential services to the working poor. We combine access to food, shelter, clothing, and healthcare with personalized case management to give our clients a way to combat all the pressures of poverty that they face.

For the security guard sleeping in his car. Or the teacher whose emergency room visit put her a month behind on rent. Or the mom working three jobs to make sure her kids have food and clothes. For all who are struggling to make ends meet, Samaritan House is here to help.

We are leading the fight against poverty in San Mateo County by effectively leveraging resources and implementing programs that lift up the working poor.

Our partnership with Second Harvest of Silicon Valley makes us the largest food distribution agency in the County, and government and private sources count on Samaritan House to disburse $2.5 million in funds on behalf of our clients each year. We have hundreds of partnerships with local organizations and leverage the ongoing support of over 3,600 volunteers. With the support of our partners, donors and volunteers, we provide free services that empower our neighbors and prevent homelessness. We are dedicated to fighting poverty and lifting lives.
